P. William Filby was founding co-editor of Passenger and Immigration Lists Index (PILI) until his death at the age of 90 in November 2002. Mr. Filby began his relationship with Gale Group and its predecessor, Gale Research, in 1978, and was instrumental in the development of most of our genealogical publications. In addition to PILI, Mr. Filby was editor or co-editor of Philadelphia Naturalization Records, Passenger and Immigration Lists Bibliography 1538-1900, and Who's Who in Genealogy & Heraldry.

Mr. Filby's service with Gale began after his retirement from the Maryland Historical Society. He was the Society's Librarian and Assistant Director in 1965-1972 and its Director in 1972-1978. He was also Assistant Director of the Peabody Institute Library, Baltimore (1957-1965), senior archivist with the British Foreign Office, London (1946-1957), a member of the British Army Intelligence Corps (1940-1946), and held library posts at Cambridge University (1930-1940). Mr Filby also was a member of numerous societies and associations.

Mr. Filby's prolific career in general, and his work with Gale in particular, will have an effect on researchers, historians, and genealogists for years to come. For that we are truly grateful.

Passenger and Immigration Lists Index: 2005 Supplement 1

Highlights

Passenger and Immigration Lists Index: 2005 Supplement brings together in one alphabet more than 125,000 immigrants who arrived in the New World between the sixteenth and the mid-twentieth centuries. This book is the thirtieth supplement to the base set of Passenger and Immigration Lists Index (PILI) published in 1981. These names appear in a broad collection of more than 100 published passenger lists, naturalization records, church records, family and local histories, voter and land registrations, etc.

For the user's convenience, the following features appear in this supplement:

- The User's Guide section, which begins on page xiii, gives examples which show the user how index and bibliographic citations should be interpreted.
- Information as to where to find the sources indexed in PILI may be found in the How to Locate Sources Indexed section beginning on page xvii.
- Complete bibliographic citations to the sources indexed in PILI 2005 Supplement, and the codes used to refer to them, may be found in the Bibliography of Sources Indexed section, beginning on page xix.

Introduction

Passenger and Immigration Lists Index (PILI) was first published in 1981 in three volumes which indexed more than 300 published lists covering about 500,000 persons. PILI and its twenty-nine supplements now cover more than 4,200,000 persons—still only a fraction of the over 35,000,000 immigrants who came to the New World. For the user's convenience, all material in the first four annual supplements to the PILI base set is also available in one alphabet in PILI 1982-85 Cumulated Supplements. The material indexed in the PILI 1986 through 1990, 1991 through 1995, and 1996 through 2000 Supplements is also available in one alphabet in PILI 1986-90 Cumulated Supplements, PILI 1991-95 Cumulated Supplements, and PILI 1996-2000 Cumulated Supplements, respectively. Beginning with the 1998 supplements, two volumes were published annually, until 2004, when single annual publication was resumed. At this time, publication plans include a cumulation of supplements every five years.

Concept and Scope

Passenger lists, naturalization records, church records, etc. are primary sources for genealogists, since, in the case of passenger lists, almost all passengers arriving in the New World during the period covered were not casual travelers but immigrants intending to remain in America as permanent residents. Information which documents a specific time and location of an immigrant in the New World is an invaluable aid to research on the history of a family in America. In addition, any of the lists that furnish this information may also furnish clues to the country of origin and other crucial bits of genealogical information. This is true of all the lists indexed in PILI, and researchers will want to make certain to consult the sources themselves for additional information.

It should be noted that in some cases variant versions of lists have been indexed in PILI, since copying is notoriously inaccurate and it is not unusual to note variations from list to list. Likewise, different information is frequently given about the circumstances of the immigration. Since no library holds all of the lists, the researcher will have a better opportunity to locate one of the versions.

Most of the sources indexed in the three-volume base set of PILI were identified by Harold Lancour's Bibliography of Ship Passenger Lists, 1538-1825: Being a Guide to Published Lists of Early Immigrants to North America (third edition revised by Richard J. Wolfe, New York: New York Public Library, 1963). In 1981, P. William Filby edited a revised and updated edition of the Lancour bibliography, Passenger and Immigration Lists Bibliography, 1538-1900: Being a Guide to Published Lists of Arrivals in the United States and Canada (Detroit: Gale Research, 1981). Now in its second edition (published 1988), this bibliography identifies more than 2,550 published passenger and immigration lists, completely superseding Lancour's work. Many of the sources indexed in the earlier volumes of PILI are listed in Passenger and Immigration Lists Bibliography, Second Edition.

Editorial Practices

All names listed in PILI have been compiled directly from published sources; unpublished sources are never indexed. The information given in a source about each immigrant and those accompanying him or her was edited to a standard format. Cross-references were made for each of those individuals who accompanied the primary listee since, without those cross-references, much valuable information would be lost.

PILI does not index passenger lists only. Naturalization lists and other publications where immigration to the New World can be determined to have occurred are indexed as well. Early in the project, the editors decided that all names, including alternate forms of the surname, in a given source would be indexed unless there was a definite reason for omission. Examples of names that would not be indexed are those whose data reflects birth in America or those with no listed surname.

The date and place appearing in PILI do not necessarily equate to the date and port of arrival. Locations referred to in some sources are in fact sometimes destinations, the area where naturalization was filed, or the particular location of the immigrant on the date cited. Dates may reflect the date of death, the date the listee requested permission to emigrate, or the point in time when documents place that person in the New World at the location specified. Although they are not ports and dates of arrival, these references are retained because the editors feel that when someone is searching for an elusive ancestor, all information is helpful. It is felt that no researcher will object to the inclusion of her or his ancestor even if the person did not arrive precisely on the date listed in PILI. By consulting the complete bibliographic citation for the source cited in a PILI entry in the section "Bibliography of Sources Indexed" which begins on page xix, researchers can determine exactly what information the listed date and place represent.

While every attempt has been made to ensure accuracy, it has been impossible to search for corrections or errata in articles published after the ones indexed. Similarly, all names have been copied exactly as printed, even in cases where they might appear to be erroneous. Abbreviations, such as "Jno.," have been retained. Van, Van der, De, De La, von, van, etc. have been left as given in the source. Letters sometimes umlauted (¨) in German names (ü, ä, ö) have been spelled out (ue, ae, oe) in the bibliography but have not been spelled out in the index unless they are spelled out in the source document. The ess-tset symbol (ß) has been anglicized as "ss".

It should be remembered that names of emigrants were often recorded as they were heard, that many emigrants could not spell their own names, and that authorities were not as literate as one would wish. Thus, variations in spelling of names occur and members of the same family arriving at different times or places may be found under more than one spelling. In using PILI, the researcher should search for every conceivable spelling of the name sought as well as adaptations of the surname based on the customs of the ancestor's country of origin. (For example, if the ancestor is a female of German extraction, the surname may be listed with an "in" appended at the end. Thus, "Mayer" is listed as "Mayerin.")

When ages given in the source books contain fractions of years, these fractions have been dropped. (For example, 14 ½ will appear in PILI as 14.) Ages of children of less than a year have been shown in months, weeks, or days.

Suggestions Are Welcome

PILI, which indexes only published material, has had an effect on genealogical publishing. Researchers have responded to PILI by increasing their efforts to have new lists published. Librarians and researchers are encouraged to inform the editors of further lists that could be indexed in the future. Questions, comments, and suggestions may be sent to Thomson Gale, Passenger and Immigration Lists Index, 27500 Drake Rd., Farmington Hills, MI 48331-3535 [phone: (248) 699-4253, toll-free: (800) 347-4253, fax: (248) 699-8062].

User's Guide

There are two main types of citations in Passenger and Immigration Lists Index (PILI): Citations listing names of immigrants which appear in the main body or index portion of the book (beginning on page 1) and bibliographic citations which appear in the section "Bibliography of Sources Indexed" (beginning on page xix).

Index Citations

Citations in the main body of PILI can be of two types. The first type, the main entry, may read as follows:

(1) (2) (3) (4) (5) (6)
Bender, George 20; New York, NY, 1852 8506 p224
Wife: Catharine 27
(7) Son: Jacob 4
Daughter: Catharine 2

The numbers in parentheses appearing in the above entry refer to the following explanations:

(1) Name of the immigrant, as spelled in the original published source
(2) Immigrant's age, when given
(3) Place of arrival, naturalization, or other record of immigration
(4) Year of arrival, naturalization, or other record of immigration
(5) Code that refers to the source in which the particular list can be found. Complete bibliographic citations to the sources indexed which include an explanation as to what information is provided by the place and year cited, and the codes used to refer to them, may be found in the "Bibliography of Sources Indexed" section, beginning on page xix.
(6) Page number on which that particular name is listed in the source cited
(7) Accompanying family members, if there are any, together with each person's relationship to the primary listee, and his or her age.

Occasionally a published list will not indicate a year of arrival or other reference year. In those instances the abbreviation n.d. (no date) is inserted:

Altomore, Mauro; Galveston, TX, n.d. 1004.5 p17

Some immigration lists note that the main listee was accompanied by other persons, with only the relationships indicated, and possibly the ages. Such information is included in the PILI listing:

Jacobs, Jan; New Netherland(s), 1659 9143 p174
With wife & mother
With child 2
With child 4

The second type of citation found in PILI is the cross-reference. Cross-references have been generated by the computer for every accompanying relative whose name is provided in the source indexed in PILI. The only exception would be those lists where a relationship seemed obvious, but was not specified. Cross-references may read as follows:

(1) (2) (3)
Bauer, Katharina 6 SEE Bauer, Peter

The numbers in parentheses appearing in the preceding entry refer to the following explanations:

(1) Name of accompanying family member
(2) Family member's age, when given
(3) Name of the primary listee

A wife whose maiden name is supplied in a source document may appear in three places in PILI: a) in the husband's main listing, b) under the maiden name, and c) as a cross-reference under the married name:

a) Gardner, Simeon; Nova Scotia, 1762 8750.40 p90
Wife: Sarah Long

b) Long, Sarah; Nova Scotia, 1762 8750.40 p90

c) Gardner, Sarah Long SEE Gardner, Simeon

For information concerning how names are selected and indexed in PILI, see the "Editorial Practices" section of the Introduction beginning on page xi.

Bibliographic Citations

Citations in the bibliography of PILI can also be of two types. The first type, indicating that the source indexed was a book, may read as follows:

(1)
778.5
(2) (3)
BRASSEAUX, CARL A. The "Foreign French:" Nineteenth-Century French Immigra- tion into Louisiana. Vol. 1: 1820-1839. Lafayette, LA: The Center for Louisiana Studies,
(4) (5) (6)
(7) (8)
University of Southwestern Louisiana, 1990. 569p.

The numbers in parentheses appearing in the above entry refer to the following explanations:

(1) Code cited in index citation referencing this source
(2) Author, editor, or compiler
(3) Title of book, pamphlet, or monograph
(4) Subtitle, volume, or edition information
(5) Place where source was published
(6) Name of publisher
(7) Year when published
(8) Number of pages in the source

The second type of bibliographic citation, indicating that the source indexed was a magazine or newspaper article or a chapter of a book may read as follows:

(1)
7129
(2) (3) (4) (5)
RACINE, JUANITA. "Caddo Parish Courthouse, Shreveport, LA. In The Genie (Ark-La-Tex
(6) (7) (8)
Genealogical Association, Shreveport), vol. 15:1 (Jan. 1981), pp. 44-46.

The numbers in parentheses appearing in the above entry refer to the following explanations:

(1) Code cited in index citation referencing this source
(2) Author or compiler of article
(3) Name of magazine article, book chapter, or newspaper article
(4) Name of the magazine, book, or newspaper in which the article or text appears
(5) Publisher of magazine or book and city (and, sometimes, state) where source was published
(6) Volume and issue number of magazine or newspaper
(7) Date when magazine, book, or newspaper was published
(8) Pages of article or chapter which were indexed

Both types of bibliographic citations will also have an annotation immediately following the citation:

(1) (2)
Date and place of first mention of residence in the New World. Extracted from records found (3)
among the Bradford papers in the archives of the Pennsylvania Historical Society. Regiment, company, place of birth, and other information provided.

The numbers in parentheses appearing in the above entry refer to the following explanations:

(1) Denotes what the date and place cited in the index citation represent
(2) Where the compiler or author of this source found his or her information
(3) What other information (not indexed in PILI) is provided by the compiler or author

Annotations may also contain other information:

English translation of the title if source is in a foreign language
The location of the original records
Address of author or compiler if source was self-published
Additional information that the staff of PILI feels will be of aid to the researcher

How to Locate Sources Indexed

Large public libraries, state libraries, libraries with genealogical or history collections, and libraries of family associations and genealogical or historical societies are excellent places to check for the sources listed in the "Bibliography of Sources Indexed" section of PILI. It should be noted that while many libraries do not have the staff to research sources, librarians can provide guidance to assist researchers in their own investigations. Some libraries may provide lists of researchers for hire. The publisher of the magazine or book indexed can also be contacted; magazine publishers often offer reprints of articles they publish. Also, the bibliographic citation in PILI (see "Bibliography of Sources Indexed," which begins on page xix) may provide information as to where the source may be found.

Many of the books and periodicals containing articles indexed in PILI are among the holdings of some of the institutions listed below. The Bibliography of Genealogy and Local History Periodicals with Union List of Major U.S. Collections edited by Michael Barren Clegg and published by the Allen County Public Library Foundation in Fort Wayne, Indiana, is helpful in determining which of the major genealogical libraries hold a specific periodical (those libraries surveyed by Clegg are indicated below by an asterisk).
